Bonhams supports doctors and nurses with a charity auction

Lead

It's the doctors and nurses who are going beyond themselves amid the Covid-19 pandemic, fighting selflessly for society as a whole. Bonhams is now supporting the United Kingdom's National Health Service with an online charity auction...

Have you ever wondered what it'd be like to get quizzed by Jeremy Paxman, the notoriously stern host of University Challenge? What about to spend the British Grand Prix weekend at Silverstone as a guest of Williams Racing? Or to have one of Lewis Hamilton's race-worn suits hanging on your office wall? To benefit the NHS Charities Covid-19 Urgent Appeal, Bonhams is holding a not-for-profit online auction filled with art, memorabilia and experiences with well-known celebrities. What are you waiting for? The lucky winning bidders will not only have donated to a worthwhile cause, but they'll also get bragging rights among their friends and family for years to come. The bidding ends on 29 April, so be quick.
