We're ecstatic that Eugenio Amos, the Italian racing driver, collector and man behind the Instagram sensation that is the Automobili Amos Lancia Delta Futurista, will be joining our host J. Philip Rathgen for tonight's instalment of Classic Driver Live...

It's been more than two years since Eugenio Amos kindly allowed us to break the news that, in his continued efforts to Make Lancia Great Again, he was going to build a three-door Singer-style restomod version of the Delta Integrale under the Automobili Amos banner. A speed-loving racing driver and a truly eclectic collector, Eugenio is a man of many passions - so long as they're related to cars. Just take a look at the automotive curiosities that were parked in his spectacular underground garage the last time we visited his home in Varese, from the dark green Ferrari F40 to the ultra-sleek Mercedes-Benz CLK GTR. He'll be joining our host J. Philip Rathgen on Classic Driver Live tonight to chat about his extraordinary collection, the Paris-Dakar versus circuit racing and, of course, bringing the Lancia Delta Futurista to fruition. Make sure you tune in on our Instagram channel at 7pm CET/6pm BST.
