This auction is a feast for design lovers and collectors

Lead

What could be better for a passionate collector of contemporary design and collectables than digging through thousands of items searching for the object of their desire? The next Schuler auction, taking place on 22 June in Zurich, offers the opportunity to do just that...

Everyone likes something be it cars, watches, design objects, art or rare wines and spirits – or at they should. The beauty of life is that you can always discover new things, the existence of which you never knew but, upon seeing them, decide you can't live without. This is often the case with Schuler's auctions. It's the kind of establishment where you enter looking to bid on a simple wristwatch, and suddenly find yourself leaving with an ivory-topped walking stick, a silver bird machine from the year 1900, a historic flintlock pistol, a Byzantine mosaic panel and two bottles of 1974 Chateau Latour. Well... you need to fill your 18-room city-centre palace and get rid of the haunting echoes somehow. Fun is on your side – please, peruse the 2,728 lots in the catalogue of Schuler's next auction, taking place on 22 June in Zurich, and find the objects you desire the most.

We would bid on all these objects
