Wannenes is heading to Milan with a smorgasbord of collector cars

Lead

The Italian auction house Wannenes returns to action on 16 July with a wonderfully diverse collector car and automobilia sale in Milan. These are our highlights from the 58-lot catalogue...

You might remember we already featured the one-off Ferrari GTC4Lusso Azzurra, which was designed for, and largely by, Garage Italia Customs' director Lapo Elkann, on Classic Driver. Well, now the elegant two-tone V12 is being offered for sale by Wannenes at its Classic Cars & Motorcycles, Youngtimers and Automobilia auction on 16 July in Milan, along with a matching 2017 Abarth 595 Competizione. Estimated at 340,000-700,000 euros and 37,000-70,000 euros, respectively, the entire proceeds of both cars will be donated to Elkann's charity, which benefits vulnerable young people.

Elsewhere in the eclectic catalogue, we're taken with the 2017 Dallara Stradale, one of just 10 Signature Editions and specified in the closed GT configuration (est. 220,000-350,000 euros), the 2007 Maserati Gran Sport, among the final examples built and finished in the elegant shade of Grigio Nuvolari (36,000-50,000 euros), and the beautifully presented 1979 VW Golf GTI Mk1 (25,000-35,000 euros). You can find our 10 favourites from Wannenes' next collector car sale listed below or, alternatively, browse the entire catalogue in the Classic Driver Market.
