Description

A stunning right-hand-drive example, originally delivered new to Hong Kong Only 30,748 km from new (18,935 miles) accompanied by a great history file Top speed was within a whisker of 160 mph and 60 mph arrived in 5.5 seconds Formerly owned by the presenter, businessman and classic car enthusiast, Chris Evans We welcome any inspection of this special Ferrari The Ferrari 328 GTS and GTB made their worldwide debut at the 1985 Frankfurt Motor Show and its styling was an obvious evolution of the Ferrari 308 Series, however, Pininfarina's Leonardo Fioravanti had softened his previous design and it still remained a popular choice with Ferrari aficionados. Under the engine cover is the same transversely-mounted, fuel-injected V8 from the Ferrari 308 Quattrovalvole, with an increase in displacement. By increasing both bore and stroke, the 'quattrovalvole's capacity was raised to 3,186cc which, together with a higher compression ratio, revised pistons, and an improved Marelli engine management system, lifted maximum power to 270 bhp at 7,000 rpm. Top speed was raised to within a whisker of 160 mph (258 km/h) and 60 mph arrived from a standing start in 5.5 seconds. A significant difference from the 308 is the use of galvanized steel, which greatly reduces potential rust problems compared to its forebear, however, beneath the skin, the tubular steel chassis remained much as before, with all-round independent suspension by double wishbones, four-wheel servo-assisted disc brakes, and aluminium-alloy wheels, though the latter were increased in size. The interior too had come in for some subtle revision and now featured improved instruments, switchgear, and heating. Supplied new through Ferrari Hong Kong in November 1987 as a new right-hand-drive car, it remained there before coming to the UK in May 2003. Every MOT since arriving is present in the comprehensive history file which accompanies this car and all the service history bills and invoices are also present, in English, to confirm the total mileage of the car at 30,748km which equates to 18,935 miles from new. Previously owned by well-known petrol head and TV presenter, Chris Evans, he used his own mechanic to last service the car in 2017 (including new cam belts) and all the work carried out is detailed in the history file. (Chris's engineer is the ex-Ferrari specialist who used to work at Hoyle-Fox Classics who had previously maintained the car on behalf of the owner prior to Chris). It's presented in immaculate condition and has clearly benefitted from thorough and professional maintenance throughout its life. This is a great opportunity to own a very useable classic 328 GTS Ferrari that has been superbly maintained and drives extremely well, traditionally finished in Rosso Corsa with Tan leather upholstery. 1987 Ferrari 328 GTS <https://youtu.be/CgIPg1i1YZwfalse>
