Description

- Registered in 1970, it has never left Turin, and with original number plates. Only two owners, in the same collection since 1988.
- White colour, largely the first coat of paint, the bodywork has some rust blooms on the wheel arches and under doors, but on the whole it is sound. Original interior well preserved and complete in every detail, with a tool kit and spare wheel bag in the boot.
- Mechanically complete and original, it was last serviced in 2000, after which it only covered 4,000km and has remained stationary until today in a dry place. It needs a general service to establish what needs to be done before it can be put back into circulation. Revision not in progress.
- The Rallye is the most valuable version among the standard ones, as it combines the charm of the first series with more advanced performance mechanics. Thanks to its completeness and originality, the model proposed is an ideal basis for restoration.
