When the Ferrari 599 Fiorano was introduced it was Ferrari's absolute top model. According to the well respected automotive journalist Andrew Frankel the 599 was the best thing to come out of Maranello since the F40, surely no greater compliment imaginable! Nico Aaldering has owned the car since 2013. This is a real rare opportunity to get your hands on a manual 599 GTB! Ferrari only built 30 manual versions of the 599 GTB, of which 20 found their way to the States, leaving only 10 over for the rest of the world. This Ferrari 599 GTB has a Tour du France Blu finish with a Carta di Zucchero blu interior. This 599 was supplied from new in 2008 in Germany. The car has been in the Netherlands since 2013. Over last twelve years the 599 has run up a paltry 60,020 km. The car itself is in absolute top condition. Inside and out the car is pristine. As soon as you step into the car you become aware that you are in a very special vehicle. Every inch is covered with the best Italian leather. The extremely popular Daytona style seats immediately make their presence known. Over and above the fact that they sit fantastically and look the part, they are also fully electrically adjustable and heated. The first owner accessorised this Ferrari 599 GTB in the upmost tasteful fashion. For instance he had the dashboard covered in Carta di Zucchero blu and Blu Scuro leather as well as having the steering wheel, headliner and central tunnel covered in blue leather, the navy blue carpets complete the picture. The icing on the cake is the rev-counter in contrasting yellow. Other options include the Brembo carbon-ceramic brakes, a 6 cd-exchanger, navigation, self dimming rearview mirror, parking sensors front and rear, highly polished 20 inch "Monolithic" rims, Bose sound system and space saver spare wheel. Driving this Ferrari is a revelation time upon time, be it the characteristic click on gear change or the wonderful sound of that 6.0 litre V12 engine, which is practically the same engine used in the Ferrari Enzo V12. The V12 delivers 608 Nm at 5,600 revs and 620 Hp at 7,600 revs. The rev-limiter kicks in at 8,400 revs. The 599 GTB takes 3.2 seconds from 0 to 100km/hr (60 miles/hr) with a top speed of over 330 km/hr (206 miles/hr). This Ferrari 599 GTB is absolutely undamaged. The fine bodywork has good and correctly aligned body panels. The complete service and maintenance history is known. In short this is a unique Ferrari 599 GTB Fiorano in unique livery with the very rare manual transmission. We have found the proverbial needle in a haystack!
