The year 1991 brought many of that car's exterior updates to the rest of the Chevrolet C4 Corvette lineup. The new front end featured parking lights that wrapped around the front corner and a new vent design was implemented behind the front wheels.

The "belt" line that wrapped around the car was now body color. The wheels for the Base model Vette were changed to the new "saw blade" design. With hard driving in mind, an oil pan float was also added to alert the driver of any low oil scenarios.

The 91 Chevrolet Corvette also boasted some creature comforts, like an accessory power wire for items like cell phones (in 1991!) and a power delay feature, which allowed for operation of the radio and power windows for a short time after turning off the engine.

With just over 20,000 units sold, 1991 was one of the lowest-selling years for the C4 Chevy Corvette, making them among the rarest versions of this vintage and cars that can command a significant premium in value.

This car was imported from Switzerland. Accident free car, fully original European version. Original factory labels on the car. Manual 6-speed gearbox with 66,000 original confirmed kilometres.

Last works done on the car:

- Oil service
- K&N filters
- New high voltage cables
- New ignition distributor
- New shaft position sensor.
- New Japanese DENSO injectors.
- Steel exhaust like original new.
- Engine adjustments

The car is fully operational, ready to drive, it does not require any financial outlays.
