Description

Year: 1980-1990

Not registered, without papers. In 1982, Piaggio Gilera began production of a moped called 'Toledo', which is the Italian version of the famous Vespino designed and produced by Moto Vespa SA, Piaggio's Iberian subsidiary. The Toledo is almost identical to the Bravo moped except for the handlebars, which have a fairing and are very similar to those on the Vespa. The telescopic fork increases ride comfort. Restored and presumably never used since. A general mechanical check is recommended before use.
