The partnership of a luxury car brand and a fine watch maker is not uncommon and always well received by collectors and admirers. This newest partnership between Girard-Perregaux and Aston Martin has given us this stunning Tourbillon with Three Flying Bridges - Aston Martin Edition.

Showing their intent for a strong relationship this stunning new timepiece is so much more than a named partnership. Working closely together and using all new materials such as an innovative rubber injected with white gold, the two brands have demonstrated their passions for refined craftsmanship and forward-looking technology.

Featuring a 44mm Grade 5 titanium case with black DLC the watch is lightweight and stealthy. Three bridges - an iconic signature of Girard-Perregaux - span the dial, again black PVD coated titanium. The details continue to reveal as you stare deep inside the tourbillon, including the Aston Martin engraved micro-rotor.

“We are delighted to partner with Aston Martin, entrusting their team with arguably our most iconic timepiece, delivering a fresh perspective on haute horlogerie.” commented Patrick Pruniaux, CVO of Girard-Perregaux. The Tourbillon with Three Flying Bridges - Aston Martin Edition, is limited to just 18 pieces, and is available worldwide in all Girard-Perregaux retailers.
