Description

We do like these second generation Range Rover's, known as the P38 and this example, one of the last to be produced was initially purchased by a well known Billionaire

All boxes were ticked on the options list, naturally, with side steps, over carpets, wood and hide steering wheel, veneered handbrake handle and gear lever as well as the centre console whilst the standard features cover most requirements anyhow - air conditioning, satellite navigation (still works well) electric operation of the seats & mirrors (with memory), windows and glass electric sunroof with sounds emanating from speakers in all 4 doors (radio / cassette & CD)

From the history folder it was clearly sent over to his ski chalet in Verbier, Switzerland and only used to ferry guests to and from the near by airport - probably the local private airport of Sion

Services from September 2003 until November 2012 are all from this area, and even one was stamped in Portugal in 2009

Always UK registered she was pampered at all times and when she was sold in 2016 she had only but 48.000 miles covered and was snapped up by a professional photographer, having covered around only 3.000 miles per annum

All servicing was always carried out by Official Land Rover Service Centres

Overcome by the low mileage and immaculate condition, she was in such good condition that even Land Rover Monthly magazine had heard about her

Naturally they produced a full report of her with some amazing pictures in the Yorkshire Dales where the second owner kept her

The article is kept within her history folder, of course, and the original book pack and associated paperwork is there too

The last owner, a notable collector of all types of cars, kept her in London for his use here - although his time in the UK is less than expected and hence the reason to offer her to us

Mileage is under 56.000 miles and you would suggest it was under 20.000 miles so fresh is her paint work and interior trimmings

We will shortly give her one of our normal full services so that the new owner can enjoy her to the full

One of the best we have ever seen
