Description

The Ferrari 250 GT Coupé Pininfarina, which revived a model launched in 1954 and was shown for the first time in Milan in 1958, went from artisan-type construction to semi-industrialised production. The 343 cars built between 1958 and 1960 represented an extraordinary leap forward in Maranello's manufacturing capability, especially for a company that usually produced just under 100 cars a year up until that moment, either as one-offs or a few examples of a single model on request.

This exceptional Ferrari 250 GT Coupé Pininfarina has been delivered new by the factory and has been fully restored in 2016 (by Gipimotor).

The car is matching numbers, matching colors and Ferrari Classiche certified.

This Ferrari has made 1000km since the restoration and is a wonderful car with beautiful colors.

The car is visible in Brussels : Gipimotor' workshop.
