Description

This 1982 Ferrari 512 BBI was sold new by Samocar in Rome, Italy, and was subsequently shipped to the United States as a 'grey' import and purchased by a Mr R.Sirota. The Carfax shows that the car was inspected in October 1998 with an odometer reading of just 3,000 miles. In December 1999, with 5,184 miles indicated, it came into the possession of a Mr. R.Stada and subsequently, in 2014, was then purchased from a respected specialist in Long Island with a mileage of 8,945. The car made its way to the U.K. shortly after in 2016, remaining in single ownership.

The bodywork is finished in Rosso Corsa over Black and is presented in outstanding condition. The paint and cars bodywork are presented in excellent condition throughout, the panel gaps are superb. The chassis is in equally impressive condition with no corrosion or previous repairs. It is very rare to find such an unmolested example which retains such a level of originality!

The interior is beautifully original, even retaining its distinctive original smell. The leather work is unmarked, as are the original carpets and headlining. The original steering wheel is immaculate, and the car retains its original stereo system, including the graphic equaliser, which is fully functioning. All other electric systems operate as intended and the electric windows have been serviced.

Furlonger workshops have recently carried out a comprehensive engine out service in preparation for the BBIs sale, also changing the cambelt and including any other required works in the process.

Supplied with its original Ferrari wallet, two sets of keys, duplicate service book, tools and all invoices for recent works, this Ferrari represents a very exciting proposition for its next owner.
