Launched in 2020, re-engage produce these stylish interior pieces that work as clocks and wireless chargers while keeping the origins of their dashboard inspired style

Paying homage to the stylish dashboards of the 60s and 70s, these analogue and digital clocks using the interiors from Opel, BMW, and Citroën make a great talking point. As well as telling you the time, they will conveniently wirelessly charge your smart phone. Who doesn't always need charge in the era of the smartphone?

And in such a digital age aren't these pieces just the perfect analogue addition to your home? Our favourite is the wild Citroën GSA unit. The French have always been famous for their forward-looking designs and the fun diagram of the car mixed with bold art deco numbers would look great in any stylish home.
