Classic Driver's CEO JP Rathgen brings us yet more automotive joy with the Classic Heart Podcast in collaboration with BMW Group Classic. This week, he welcomes Hagerty's Jason Cammisa!

Presenter of arguably the most creative automotive YouTube channel in the game right now, Jason Cammisa from Hagerty is no stranger to talking all things cars. In this fifth episode of the Classic Heart podcast by BMW Group Classic, JP and Jason share their stories from two car-obsessed locations, comparing the automotive similarities and differences between Germany and the USA.

Of course, the topic of conversation had to lead to one of Jason's most prized possessions, his BMW 325i E30 Touring, where he dives a little deeper into some amazing stories of how he acquired it and highlights the diverse American car scenes he's encountered during his travels as a journalist.
