Celebrate the James Bond legacy with Connolly's new 007 collection

Lead

Fans of James Bond and Connolly, this is your lucky day. The two British icons have joined forces to produce a must-have range of clothing and accessories, just in time for Christmas.

If you've been wondering what to get the 007 fanatic in your life for Christmas, then you're in luck, because renowned luxury brand Connolly has produced a collaboration with everyone's favourite super spy, inspired by 007 and Connolly's long association with the iconic Aston Martin DB5. Celebrating the 60th Anniversary of James Bond, the 007 X Connolly Collection naturally boasts a number of ultra-luxurious leather goods, such as a leather phone holster, a watch case, and a lovely circuit portfolio. Of course, if espionage isn't on your to-do-list, then the eye-catching Gold 007 Driving Goggles would inject some silver screen glamour into your next Sunday drive. There's plenty of other items to tempt you, like the range of minimalist organic cotton t-shirts, while the linen or tobacco suede Giubbino jackets would make for the perfect wardrobe addition as we head towards the colder months of year. We've just scratched the surface of the 007 X Connolly Collection, so be sure to check out the full range of clothing and accessories in the CD Shop below!
